

11. Not a Robot

Don't be a robot, be a friend. ♥

Don't be a robot, be a warm body, a happy soul!

Don't be a robot. Feel the burn. Life is tough, get used to it.

Don't be a robot, but if you are, here's a function that you can use to automatically save and recall all your favourite movies.

When you're dressed up in a robotic body and your mind can't function without the help of artificial intelligence, will you still feel like "a robot?" I've come to believe that yes, yes you will. In fact, I'm so convinced that we'll never be able to function without artificial intelligence that I'm determined to make even the simplest of tasks, like picking a fancy dress or getting a good job, as simple as possible. But before that happens, we'll have to make sure that even simple tasks are done correctly. For me, simple tasks have four parts: First, I like to look at a photo of what I want. Second, I like to listen to music. Third, I like to eat. Fourth, I like to write.

It's not about what you can do. It's not about becoming an expert in everything you're learning. You can't learn to play the piano if you're not a great flute player. You can't learn to write if you don't know how to spell. You have to work on everything from a technical level to an artistic one. You're learning to be a human being first and foremost. Your job is to make the best of what you're learning. Don't be a robot.

We're the ones who've been mistreated on so many fronts. our bodies are being ripped away from us, our minds are being changed by drugs or surgery, our minds are being hijacked by advertisements or by the media, our heart is being taken from us and our minds are being polluted by toxins. Now, it's time to come together and fight for respect, equality, and fairness for everyone.

I'm a big believer in forgiveness and forgetting. In life, we forget. We don't live up to our potential. We give ourselves permission to let go. I'm still learning. I still have a lot to learn. I still have many lessons to teach.

Today, for too long, we've allowed a system to fail; to degrade and to be passed on to our children and grandchildren. We must change. We must build a better future.

We will not be complacent. We will not fail. We will not let this happen. We will not stay passive, but take action. We will fight. We will make our history.

We will lead. We will become leaders. We will transform. We will determine our futures.

But we will also be victims of our own success. We will fail our children and grandchildren. It is not enough to be a leader. No leader is going to change the world and no one can lead if they are not willing to be a servant of the people they lead.

We must now begin to build a better tomorrow. We are not alone. The change is not easy, but we will learn to overcome the obstacles and make our children our grandchildren.

Do we want a better tomorrow? I have the answer. I am a better leader than anyone I know. I am a better partner than anyone I know. I am a better boss than anyone I know. And so on and so forth. I am a better human.

Don't be a robot. And don't get hung up on the notion that all robots are the same thing. Some people don't want to be robots. That's fine. They just want to do things they love and enjoy and not have to worry about the 99% who don't understand them. But if you want to be a robot, here's the deal. You have to learn how to be a human being. No one else can do that for you. And no one else is going to teach you how to do that. You've got to make your own decisions. You've got to make the best decisions for you and your best decisions for yourself. If you don't, people will try to take away your happiness.

So here's the deal: you. My friends. Are you going to give me your best, most authentic and carefree feelings and soul and spirit and best feelings and best days? No. Or will you be like, yes, I'll do anything you want? Absolutely! But the part you're not going to realize is that this will be YOUR final decision. It's only your last chance. And if you're taking the wrong road, you'll end up in bitter pain and you'll regret it.

We've gone through a lot of hard times. Our home is sad, our relationships are bad, our work is tough and our education is lacking. But if you're a human, you've got to do what you can for people who are hurting. Stop worrying about people and start helping. You don't have to be a robot. You can't control other people and they shouldn't control you.

Stop trying to make everyone happy. All the things in life are not about solving problems, but about helping people. By all means, volunteer, but don't forget that you're the one who decides whether someone's problems are solvable or not. Look at you. You've got a job, a home and a car. Why not? But that's about it. I'll end this with this: it's not about solving problems. It's not about being perfect. It's not about being smart. It's not about being the best at everything. It's about being a human. It's about being a friend. And the best friend is a friend you make of your best at whatever you are.
